What can Flow help me do?

Flow is designed for leaders of software development teams, including CTOs, VPEs, Directors, Engineering Managers, platform engineers, and Team Leads.

Managers can lose the intuition and visibility as their teams scale. The larger the team, the harder it is to answer questions like:

- What did we deliver yesterday?
- How much burn went toward paying down technical debt?
- Why is the release running late?
- Did the process changes make things better?
- How do I know when someone is struggling, and how can I help?

Flow answers those seemingly impossible questions. Flow is the tool of choice for data-driven leaders and helps software teams reach their highest potential.

If you need help, please email support@pluralsight.com for 24/7 assistance.