

Updating an email address

Tags: ACC

We understand emails change or you may have typed in the wrong one. If your account was created using an email address and password login, you can update your email address in Account Settings \(opens in new tab\).

Important: If your account was created using a social single sign-on \(SSO\) authentication like "Hide My Email", your account is linked to the email from the authentication and cannot be changed on our website.

1. In Account Settings, click Change Email.

2. Type in the new email address twice. You will be automatically signed out of your account after you click Update Email Address.

Update Your Login Email Address

This will change the email you use to login. You will no longer be able to sign in with your current email address.

New Email

Please provide a valid email address.

Confirm New Email

Please provide a valid email address.

Warning: You will be signed out after performing this action. Please check your emails to verify your new address and sign back in.

3. After you are automatically logged out of your account, be sure to check your Inbox for our account verification email. Once you've verified your new email address, you will be able to sign in with your new account credentials.

Important: If you are unable to log in to update your email due to an email typo, please contact our Support team \(opens email form\). We can update your email address for you.

If you need help, please email Pluralsight Support \(opens email form\) for 24/7 assistance.
