Finding ACG labs on Skills

If Pluralsight labs are a part of your plan, some of these ACG cloud labs will appear on your Skills home page via the Recommended for you carousel, based on prior search activity. Discover other hands-on cloud content using the Browse icon:

1. Click the Browse icon on your top navigation bar
2. Under Spotlight, click Labs

Or through Search:

1. Type your preferred cloud platform into the search bar
2. Press return (for Mac) or Enter (for PC)
3. Filter results by "Labs"

Tip: ACG hands-on labs will be indicated by an "A Cloud Guru" logo.

Skills learner experience

We're providing Skills learners with the Pluralsight labs add-on access to these additional ACG labs for free. You don't need an ACG license to access these labs and you'll maintain access to them for the duration of your plan subscription.

When you click on an ACG lab, you're automatically redirected to the ACG platform to complete the lab. Once complete, you have the option to retake the lab or return to the Skills platform.

Note: With the exception of free content, Skills users don't have access to any other content on the ACG platform with an ACG subscription.

Dual learner experience

Learners with both a Skills and ACG account may have slightly different options while attempting to access an

ACG lab on the Skills platform:

Dual learners with the same email address on Skills and ACG

When you click on an ACG lab, the system recognizes your credentials and automatically logs you into the ACG platform. Once you complete your lab, you have the option to retake the lab, return to the Skills platform, or access other ACG content in your plan.

Dual learners with different email addresses on Skills and ACG

When you click on an ACG lab, you're automatically redirected to the ACG platform where you can log in using your ACG credentials. Once you complete your lab, you have the option to retake the lab, return to the Skills platform, or access other ACG content in your plan.
